

SAINT AGNES

“I am Saint Agnes. I smile as I mention My Name to the little one who has been chosen for such a Major Task, Responsibility, inconceivable to the human minds to understand the Importance of a Gift, not just to the one through whom We speak, but to all who will hear the Words, put Them into print, and be able to deliver Them to thousands of others, helping them to know how close The Father is, and how close All the Saints are to human beings who yet walk the path of what is called ‘life’.

Children are not always instructed on the importance of what they speak, how they speak it, or to the degree that their behavior is very important; also, their knowledge in the words that they feel so positive in, sometimes even superior about.

Throughout the world, there are millions of men, women and children who talk on any subject, not questioning to themselves, ‘Is it a subject that is moral in content, productivity, or is it pleasing to the enemy of the Souls of millions of human beings?’

Conversation is a natural act of human life, but I come today to make many hundreds, or hopefully thousands who will read these Words, to more indepthly understand that the Gift of speech has many responsibilities, just as great in number as the actions of a human being.

Today, throughout the world, there is very little emphasis, if any, put on the importance of human association: what is right, what is wrong; what would please The Father, what would not please The Father. People do not think of this aspect, this portion of the importance in all they do, all they practice in the human form of living.

Prayer is important, but oftentimes the full meaning of the prayer is ignored, because the individual does not concentrate on the indepthness of what the prayer means, or how it was meant to give strength, and more understanding on the One Who the prayer is to.

As I close My Words, I beseech those who take Them and those who will read Them: Never lose sight of the privilege it is to be a human being. A human life bears many responsibilities, but also above all other things created, human life has a Goal for That Portion of it, the Soul. The Father's Creation of human life had a Gift of Divine Love in it, thus giving to it a reason in how the life would act, think, and become a part of service to The Creator, just through living daily life in the manner and way, pleasing to The Creator, because human life, with the Gift of a Soul, says more to an individual than most care to think, or to respond at times that they make the wrong moves."
