

MANY SAINTS

“There are Many of Us present every day, because the privilege to be able to speak is Important for the good of human beings of all ages, degrees of understanding and backgrounds that, in many ways, stabilize how an individual accepts and uses What they hear, What they read.

If you were to take a poll within the next three hours and you were to ask questions regarding how an individual uses prayer, how an individual lives every day, how an individual earns money, how an individual takes the time to associate, accommodate, advocate everyone they meet, giving part of how they feel, asserting their opinion on what they feel is real, versus what is difficult for them to handle mentally, emotionally, psychologically, physically, even monetarily.

Now, let Us stand above the whole world and be able to watch individuals live in the form they live, the circumstances they live under, and also, all the different people that they associate with mentally, morally, psychologically, also spiritually, to the depth in which the individual would have to not just give an opinion, but a sound reasonable description of their way of dealing with, or practicing, or participating in, where ‘spirituality’ was the main core of all things.

There is much more I want to speak on, to ask questions about, but I will close this at this time, hopefully, going to be able to hear what you have to say regarding these subjects, because I promise you, so much wrong is occurring throughout the world. It is not a tree causing the wrong, it is not the dirt causing it, it is not the sky or the stars or the moon or the sun; it is just human individuals using all their emotions, their sensitivities, their senses, their standards, based on what they feel are necessary for them.

I have never spoken to you like this before, and I assure you, I could speak hours with you on these Subjects, but I will appreciate your responses on just the Few I have requested to be noted at this time, but with All that has been spoken, I want you, each one present, and everyone throughout the world.

Your birth as a human being, is a Gift of Divine Love beyond anything ever created throughout the world.”
