

TEACHING DELIVERED THROUGH FRANCES M. KLUG
ON OCTOBER 25, 1994 AT 8:05 A.M.

“WHATEVER HAPPENED TO THE MORAL CONCEPT OF THE PURPOSE FOR HUMAN DIGNITY IN THE COMMITMENT OF MARRIAGE?”

“Marriage is a natural, logical moral vocation of life, a commitment that does not just justify an intimate relationship, but is the basic foundation of legally, morally accepting responsibilities that automatically result from the basic reason of a man and woman being the foundation of family life, the two responsible people for the care, direction and example to children, and contribute to fundamental social morals of society as a whole.

People of all ages who choose to practice the illegal, immoral aspect of accepting and practicing all the privileges of this union designed by God, should not be allowed to think that they are totally acceptable and right in their behavior, that in its very practice is against the sound morals so clearly covered by the Ten Commandments.

So much emphasis is being put on mundane issues, thus ignoring the important issues that should be dealt with where the Soul of each human being is being bounced back and forth, ignoring the Importance of Its Existence and Its Goal.

Living together in a physically immorally involved relationship cannot be justified if the two parties are not married to each other. The sometimes hidden excuse is one or both are leaving the door open in case someone else comes along.

Marriage is a commitment of purpose. Immorality is void of any commitment.”