“Why have millions of people for ‘many’ years accepted the ‘extreme concise’ wording defining the Commandments of God?

First of all, it is illogical to believe that God was not clearly explicit in the full meaning of His Commandments because of the importance of each of them, based on the very fact that any impurity of the mind and/or body functions automatically affected the purity of an individual’s Soul.

This Soul, of course, as a Portion of God, must never be the victim of any impure act, thought or intention, because the Soul is the receiver of all an individual does, thinks, practices, and/or ignores the importance of.

Human logic cannot ignore that human life with all its senses, sensitivities, emotions, intellect, abilities, moral senses, is special in design, and must have a Goal for being a human being.

It is innate in the human senses that there is a desire to want to be successful and/or reach goals that are beneficial mentally, physically, emotionally, and are enriched with creditability, when sound orderly circumstances and practices are present.”
